Cookies

Cookies are basically little parcels of data that are passed from a website to a user's web browser if the user visits certain websites. If a user browses the same website again in the future, the data stored by the cookie is retrieved by the website, typically in order to provide changes to certain page views, displayed content or functionality relevant to the user's previous activity. We utilise a session cookie to identify you – this is to assist with redirecting between the mobile and non-mobile versions of this website. We may also use other cookies to collect data and are not limited to what data we collect.

This website uses Google Analytics and other third parties in order to collect site traffic, usage information and more – this data is anonymous. This is done for the purposes of improving your website user experience.

Users can disable cookies at any time by using the relevant options in their web browser. This may have a negative impact on the browsing experience and functionality of some websites. Refer to your browsers help system to find out how to disable cookies.

Security

We are committed to ensuring that your information is secure. In order to prevent unauthorised access or disclosure, we have put in place suitable physical, electronic and managerial procedures to help safeguard and secure the information we collect online. An SSL Certificate has been implemented and we take your personal details seriously.
